The Lithuanian Jewish community was decimated in the Holocaust: over 220,000 Jews, more than 95% of the population, were murdered.

This captivating documentary follows the experiences of two descendants of the Lithuania Holocaust: Grant Gochin, whose family was murdered in Lithuania; and Silvia Foti, granddaughter of the military officer who ordered their execution. Together, the two push against Lithuania's systemic Holocaust denial in an attempt to expose the truth and bring justice to the victims.
